This exhibition features a new video project and related sculptures that engage aspects of Russian Constructivist-era art history, including references to agit-prop graphic design as well as theatrical costumes and sets that reflect the earlier symbolism of their revolutionary ideals.

January 18 and 19 (Friday and Saturday), 8pm
Curated by Rashida Bumbray
Burnt Sugar The Arkestra Chamber, a New York-based, twenty-plus member ensemble, will perform a mojosexual-inflected suite of trans-genre works that are part acid-funk, part-hip hop mixed with layers of psychedelic grooves. The evenings open with a performance by emerging songwriter and vocalist Sparlha Swa.

Gibbons' disappearing never-ending return is a dance of lightness, possibility, and non-inevitability.

CHUNKY MOVE: GLOW

February 7-9 (Thursday-Saturday), 7:30pm and 9pm
February 10 (Sunday), 2pm and 3:30pm
The Australian dance company Chunky Move presents a revolutionary tour de force in Glow, a solo piece in which the movements of the dancer create a kaleidoscope of light and animation through the use of pioneering motion tracking technology.
